Passage – I

What is truth? said jesting Pilate, and would not stay for an answer. Certainly there be that delight in giddiness; and count it a bondage to fix a belief; affecting free-will in thinking, as well as in acting. And though the sects of philosophers of that kind be gone yet there remain certain discoursing wits, which are of the same veins, though there be not so much blood in them, as was in those of the ancients. But it is not only the difficult and labour, which men take in finding out of truth, nor again, that when it is found, imposeth upon man's thoughts, that doth bring lies in favour; but a natural though corrupt love of the lie itself. One of the later school of the Grecians, examineth matter, and is a stand to think what should be in it, that men should love lies; where neither they make for pleasure as with poets, nor for advantage, as with the merchants; but for the lie's sake

But I cannot tell; this same truth, is a naked, and open day-light, that doth not show the masks, and mummeries, and triumphs, of the world, half so stately and daintily as candle-lights. Truth may perhaps come to the price of a pearl, that showeth best by day; but it will not rise to the price of a diamond, or carbuncle, that showeth best in varied lights. A mixture of a lie doth ever add pleasure. Doth any man doubt, that if there were taken out of men's minds, vain opinions, flattering hopes, false valuations, imaginations as one would, and the like, but it would leave the minds, of a number of men, poor shrunken things, full of melancholy and indisposition, and unpleasing to themselves?

11. What is the writers' idea of 'truth' in the paragraph?
- (a) Truth and divinity go hand-in-hand
  - (b) Truth can be told and avoided conveniently
  - (c) Truth is a compulsion sometimes
  - (d) Truth may be a choice of ancient Grecians
12. Why do men love lies?
- (a) For advantage
  - (b) For the love of lying
  - (c) For the sake of lies
  - (d) A lie is imaginative
13. Which metaphor is used in the passage to compare the value of truth and lies?
- (a) Pearls versus diamonds
  - (b) Beauty versus plain unadorned truth
- (c) Ease versus difficulty
- (d) Deception versus sincerity
14. What literary device does the author use when he says, "truth is naked"?
- (a) symbolism
  - (b) personification
  - (c) allegory
  - (d) paradox
15. What would happen if truths were not mixed with lies?
- (a) There would not be any pleasure in the pursuit of truth
  - (b) Truth would be clear and undiluted
  - (c) Lies would no longer be necessary
  - (d) The beauty of truth would shine forth

Passage – II

The 'law' is an enterprise that seeks to rule us all from cradle to the grave, whether as constitution confronting custom, or as custom confronting constitution, and often indeed as the diverse combinatory prowess of both. The very notion of enterprise suggests risk-taking i.e., risk as a site for both opportunity as well as failure for regulation or felicitation of approved social conduct. At the same moment, this coupling of the constitutional and custom is at the outset designed to pluralise the notion of legal literacy, a message yet to be fully constructed and conveyed co-equally to those who govern us and those who would resist domination. As citizens, we are supposed to know the law made by the state, whether we intend to obey it or break it. As members of cultural and religious communities, we also need to know the norms that define our membership of these collectives. Often, our identity and obligations as members of a political society and of diverse memberships within cultural and religious communities constitute spheres of peaceful coexistence. Often, too these collide. To decide what obligations ought to have precedence, each one of us in collision situations has to know a great deal about the law of the state and that constituting community and identity other than the political. Literacy in state law is important but never enough for an understanding of multiple sources of obligations that constantly press upon us. This invites engagement with many difficult questions including what we may want to mean by literacy, law, domination, and resistance. Further, the question always is : how far do resources of legal literacy endow us with resources of justice for all and care of self and care for others ?

16. According to the author, legal literacy

- (a) needs to be interpreted and understood in consonance with elements of social custom and justice
- (b) needs to be interpreted and understood in consonance with elements of economic and psychological factors and law
- (c) needs to be interpreted and understood in terms of unjust existence of human being and justice
- (d) needs to be interpreted and understood in consonance with elements of environmental conservation and law

17. As a citizen one is supposed to

- (a) make a balance between the legal aspects and cultural existence
- (b) give a priority to our cultural existence.
- (c) give a priority to constitutional provisions.
- (d) know that knowledge about constitutional regulation is an impediment to cultural existence.

18. The above passage deals in

- (a) Law and Justice
- (b) Legal Literacy

19. According to the writer 'diverse combinatory prowess' means

- (a) A process of evolving a legal and constitutional system of cohesive elements

- (c) A provision of evolving constitutional laws by neglecting customary practices
